

SOCIAL PROCESSES (SYP)

SYP 3520 - Sociology of Crime (3 Credits)

An introduction to the study of criminal behavior and crime in society, societies' reaction to crime and the criminal, and theories of causality and treatment.

Attribute(s): SYPE - Social Process Restrict

SYP 3910 - Directed Independent Study (1-3 Credits)

Under the guidance and supervision of an instructor, one or more students develop a program of reading and possibly research.

SYP 3930 - Special Topics (3 Credits)

Special Topics in the area of social processes.

SYP 4062 - Pregnancy, Power, and Justice (3 Credits)

This course examines access to reproductive health care and may include topics such as reproductive politics, the social construction of reproductive and sexual health, intersecting inequalities, the medicalization of reproductive processes, and the impacts of racism, colonialism, sexism, and poverty on reproduction and sexual health.

Prerequisite(s): SYG 2000 or SYG 2010 or SYG 2012 or SYG 2220 or SYG 2231 or SYG 2250 or SYG 2442

SYP 4444 - International Development (3 Credits)

The course provides an understanding and analysis of the concepts, theories, and the actions/actors that inform the international development process. While the focus is sociological, it draws on other disciplines, in a holistic analysis of international development.

Prerequisite(s): SYG 2000 or SYG 2010 or SYG 2012 or SYG 2220 or SYG 2231 or SYG 2250 or SYG 2442

SYP 4631 - Sociology Through Film (3 Credits)

Presentations of sociological phenomena are explored through the use of film, including discussions of implicit and explicit messaging and potential effects of film on various aspects of social behavior.

SYP 4640 - Sociology of Leisure (3 Credits)

A sociological analysis of leisure in historical context, its connection to social class, the conceptual distinction between leisure and work, and the relationship of leisure to gender, race, politics, age, culture and health.

Prerequisite(s): SYG 2000 or SYG 2010 or SYG 2012 or SYG 2220 or SYG 2231 or SYG 2250 or SYG 2442

Attribute(s): SYPE - Social Process Restrict